Uses

This is a high strength formula that includes powerful extracts from cinnamon bark, olive leaf, fennel seed and oregano leaf. This product is recommended for those people following a dietary regime designed to tackle an overgrowth of Candida albicans, which is a type of yeast that is naturally present in our digestive system.

When using herbs and spices in Lamberts® formulas, we always ensure that we use the correct species and the relevant part of the plant. This is why we have specifically used cinnamon bark since it is the bark, as opposed to the oil, that is documented as having some effect on the growth of Candida albicans.
